

A 2D visualization of a hexagonal lattice of particles. The particles are colored based on their energy state, with a color bar on the left indicating a scale from red (low energy) to blue (high energy). The lattice shows a clear phase transition, with a low-energy region (red/yellow) on the left and a high-energy region (blue) on the right.

